FROM THE OLD . . .

The old gives way to the new. In this space age when discoveries are being made constantly, education must strive to keep up with the rest of the world. We must not allow ourselves to become as a stagnant pond, but must surge on as a mountain stream to attain higher goals. Our new school is a symbol of change and progress. With this change everyone benefits -- the students and faculty because of access to improved facilities and the general public because of a better community in which to live. In this first issue of "Pawprints," we present memories of the first year in our new school.

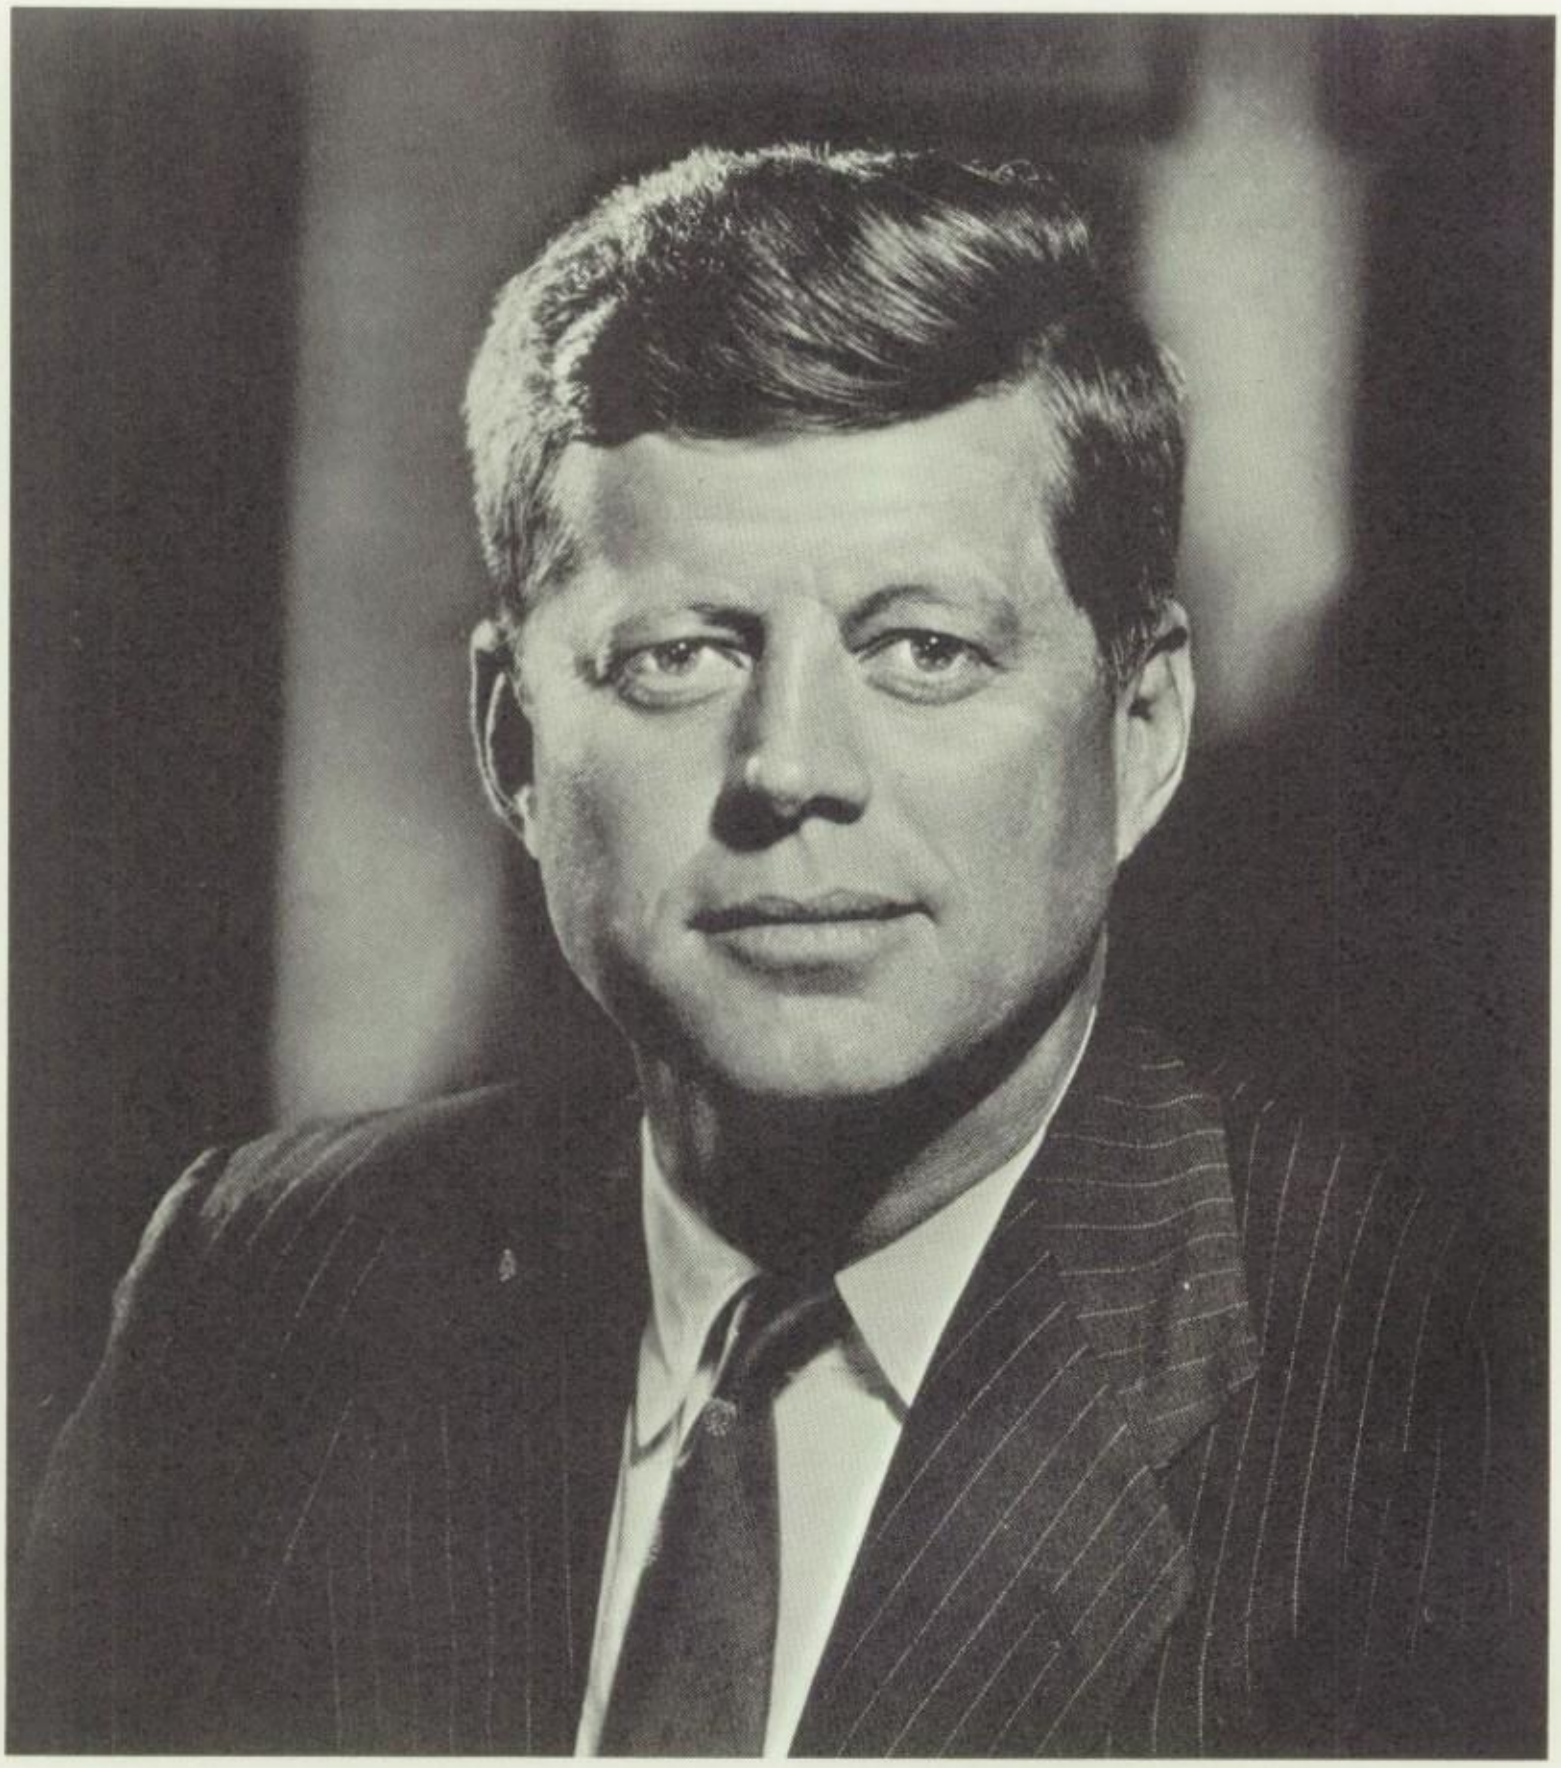
IN MEMORY



JOHN F. KENNEDY

. . . And so my fellow Americans: Ask not what your country can do for you -- ask what you can do for your country . . .

-- From the Inaugural Address delivered on January 20, 1961,
by President John F. Kennedy --

THOSE WHO GUIDED US

DR. BEN F. VAN HORN

Supervising Principal

This Yearbook -- 1964, marks one more step in the education of each of us -- for education is a continuous process throughout life.

Each step to come brings problems, challenge, opportunity -- and a learning experience with it.

Thus we grow.

TO THE CLASS OF 1964:

For the high school faculty and staff, I extend congratulations to the members of the Class of 1964. By taking advantage of the educational opportunities that prevail, you have set an example to the groups which will follow your paths through their secondary education.

As every class progresses through the junior high school years and, especially, through the senior high school years, it earns a degree of respectability for itself. By hard work, cooperation, and good leadership, your class has established a standard that can be held in esteem by yourselves, the school personnel, and the classes that will succeed you at Northern Bedford.

Proud as you are of your new high school building, and you demonstrated this by the fine care given it, you will in years to come become increasingly aware of the most important ingredient of education -- your instructors. They have imparted knowledge that will be needed every waking moment of your lives. You who were receptive to this most precious gift can be proud of these dedicated individuals, as they are of you.

Your class motto is amply demonstrated by your yearbook staff who, with the advisor, worked continuously during your senior year to prepare this fine school annual. We are pleased that your group has had the honor to publish the original "Pawprints."

One of the greatest challenges facing any senior class is the publication of a yearbook which will present a true picture of activities of the students, both at work and play, and the function of the school administrators. The class of 1964 has worked diligently to meet this challenge. How successful we have been in our efforts will depend largely upon how much enjoyment and satisfaction you derive from the pages of the annual.

The staff and its advisor have endeavored to make this yearbook one which you will cherish highly among your most prized possessions. With this expectation we proudly present the 1963-64 "Pawprints" of the Northern Bedford County High School.
